

Senators Report On McCarthy-Army Row

Irate Senator Watkins Rules McCarthy Out Of Order; Ends Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new round of Senate hearings on the conduct of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) opened Tuesday—and recessed with Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) gaveling the protesting McCarthy into reluctant silence.

Pale with anger, Watkins flailed the committee table with his gavel and ended the session when McCarthy pressed for clear statement whether one of the senators investigating him—Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.)—recently said every Democratic leader in Congress loathes McCarthy.

"The senator is out of order!" Watkins declared. When McCarthy tried again to be heard, the white haired Watkins, his voice trembling, told the Wisconsin lawmaker:

"We are not going to be interrupted by these diversions and sidelines. We are going straight down the line. The committee will be in recess."

McCarthy shrugged, spread his hands in a what's-the-use gesture and turned away with a smile.

So ended, on a hurly-burly note reminiscent of the McCarthy-Army hearings, a session marked up to that point by courtroomlike decorum. The six-man select committee is investigating five groups of charges by three other senators who want the Senate to vote censure of McCarthy's activities.

McCarthy and his lawyer, Edward Bennett Williams, called the committee's attention Monday to a March 12 Denver Post article quoting Johnson as saying in a telephone interview that "there is not a man among the Democratic leaders of Congress who does not loathe Joe McCarthy."

Tuesday Johnson, who is retiring from the Senate to run for governor of Colorado, read a formal statement asserting:

"I did not say on March 12 or at any other time that I personally loathed Sen. Joseph McCarthy. In response to a telephone call from Denver I agreed that some of my Democratic colleagues did not like Sen. McCarthy."

The McCarthy-Watkins clash came after:

1. McCarthy opened with a statement blaming the charges against him on an "unholy alliance" of people who "have shaken hands on the proposition that vigorous anti-communism somehow represents a greater danger to America than communism itself." He also declared he would not abandon his principles.

2. McCarthy's lawyer laid down his first line of defense—that the present Senate has no power to censure McCarthy for acts committed during past Congresses. Watkins said the committee already was decided against this line of argument, but agreed to let the attorney file a brief supporting his contention.

3. The committee began its formal hearing by reading into the record a whole sheaf of correspondence and other material relating to one charge against the senator—that he committed contempt of the Senate by failure to testify before a Senate subcommittee which investigated his financial and certain other activities in 1952. That was during the Democratic 82nd Congress.

None of McCarthy's accusers—Sens. Flanders (R-Vt.), Fulbright (D-Ark) and Morse (Ind-Ore)—was in the room.

Peace, Progress, Prosperity Is GOP Campaign Theme

CINCINNATI (AP)—Republican leaders charted a massive drive Tuesday for control of Congress based on a sales campaign of "Peace, Progress and Prosperity" under the banner of President Eisenhower's leadership.

GOP National Chairman Leonard Hall told reporters the campaign this fall "is going to be the greatest" ever waged in an off-year election by the Republicans in his long political experience.

President Eisenhower, Vice President Richard Nixon, members of the Eisenhower Cabinet and teams of national and state GOP leaders will fan out across the nation to appeal to the voters to elect a Republican-controlled Congress.

Hall said Secretary of State Dulles and Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson will not make "partisan speeches," but he made it clear the GOP high command is going to throw its biggest guns into the fight.

The Republicans are going after the farm vote and also try to round up the independent voters who swung their support to Eisenhower in the 1952 election.

Fleming Warned Reds Would Punish Him, Sergeant Says

FT. SHERIDAN, Ill. (AP)—An Army sergeant testified Tuesday Lt. Col. Harry Fleming warned him in a North Korean prison camp he would be punished by the Communists if he "didn't straighten out."

Sgt. L.C. Joseph T. Gardiner of Iron Mountain, Mich., told a military court he may have been warned because the Communists did not like his behavior or because "of a disagreement I had with Col. Fleming."

Fleming, of Racine, Wis., stated in testimony before an 11 member court-martial trying the officer on charges of collaborating with the enemy during his 34 months as a prisoner of war. It was the second day of Fleming's trial.

Fleming, 46, is the first American officer to be tried for behavior in North Korean prison camps.

SEPTEMBER FORECAST: SUBNORMAL RAINFALL, COOLER THAN USUAL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Weather Bureau anticipates that September will be a little cooler than usual in states east of the Mississippi and a little warmer than average west of the river.

It issued this 30-day outlook Tuesday.

"The Weather Bureau's 30-day outlook for September calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals east of the Mississippi with greatest departures over the Middle Atlantic states. Above normal temperatures are expected over the western half of the country with greatest departures over the Rocky Mountain states and Northern Plains.

"In general, prevailing sub-normal precipitation is expected over the nation except for near to above normal rainfall from the Appalachians eastward and also west of the Continental Divide."

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The Army, trying to get reluctant Americans to come home from their Red captors in Korea, did not promise immunity to them, a trial judge ruled Tuesday.

The ruling was made in the general court-martial of Cpl. Claude Batchelor, who at first chose to stay with the Reds and then changed his mind and returned to the Allied side last Jan. 1.

Batchelor, 22, from Kermit, Tex., was among the original group of 23 Americans who decided not to come back. His trial on charges of collaborating with the enemy and telling on his fellow American prisoners began at Ft. Sam Houston here Monday.

His defense attorney said the Army made a loudspeaker broadcast at Panmunjom Dec. 22, while the unrepatriated Americans were in Indian custody, to persuade them that they would not be punished if they returned.

Lt. Col. Donald L. Manes Jr., law officer, or "judge," in Batchelor's court-martial, said he found in the broadcast "at most a promise that the prisoners of war would not be punished because they had not elected to return sooner."

Dulles Calls NATO Meeting Deplores French Action, Makes Policy Statement

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles called Tuesday for an emergency meeting of the North Atlantic Pact Council to determine what must be done to bolster defenses against communism now that France has killed the European army plan.

In a major policy statement deploring the French action as a tragedy, Dulles also:

1. Announced the United States will begin "to reappraise its foreign policies, particularly those in relation to Europe," to take into account the "new situation now created."
2. Pledged the Eisenhower administration "will act to restore sovereignty to West Germany and consult with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to help his government rearm to defend European security."
3. Reassured jittery European allies the "agonizing reappraisal" of foreign policy will not lead the United States "to turn to a course of narrow isolationism."
4. Promised the five nations who were ready to join France in the European Defense Community that America would support any new plan which might rise from "those foundations" of the ill-fated European army project.

Electoral Board Refuses Adduci Ballot Listing Bid

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Former State Rep. James J. Adduci, Chicago Republican, Tuesday was turned down by the State Electoral Board in his bid for Nov. 2 ballot listing as an Illinois House candidate.

The board, headed by Gov. Stratton, ruled that a nominating resolution signed by two members of the 2nd District GOP Senatorial Committee was invalid.

The resolution named Adduci, who quit the House under fire in 1952, as a ballot replacement for State Rep. James Yacullo. Yacullo won renomination without a contest last April, then withdrew.

The board held that one of the signers, James Bernardi, was disqualified to act as a Senatorial Committee member because his residence was outside the 2nd District. It acted on objections filed by Edward F. Moore, Cook County Republican chairman.

Moore, in a statement filed a few hours earlier, declared that "a gross fraud would be perpetrated on voters" if the board certified Adduci as a nominee.

Adduci stood just outside the open door of the board's conference room during the proceedings. A uniformed investigator of the secretary of state's office blocked the doorway.

Adduci told reporters later he was undecided as to his next move in the attempt to get on the ballot, but indicated further steps might be taken—perhaps in the courts. Even if the matter were dropped, the possibility remained that he might be elected by write-in votes.

The dapper, graying West Sider served nine two-year terms before stepping out of the Legislature after he was indicted in Springfield and Chicago. He won acquittal on charges of profiting illegally from a $21,000 state envelope contract, and on charges growing out of a "phantom payroller" investigation.

700,000 Watch Legion Parade

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Legion marched gaily and in great strength down Pennsylvania avenue Tuesday, to the stirring music of hundreds of bands and to the cheers of crowds estimated at 700,000 or more.

Police Chief Robert V. Murray estimate that the crowd was "as large or larger" than the approximately 700,000 who watched the Eisenhower inauguration parade last year.

Legion officials estimated that perhaps 115,000 members of the Legion and 10,000 active combat troops were in the mile and a quarter line of march for a parade beginning at 2 p.m. and timed to last well into the night.

Dulles spoke out in a carefully drafted statement a few hours before he was to leave for Manila to link the United States to an eight-nation alliance which will try to block any new Red advance in Southeast Asia.

He gave no clue about when he wanted the 14-nation North Atlantic Pact Council to meet in Paris. But officials said, in view of the secretary's commitments to visit the Far East and then attend the United Nations Assembly session, that October appeared to be the earliest date for any such meeting.

Without mentioning French Premier Pierre Mendes-France, Dulles voiced some of the hottest criticism he has yet raised at the French for scuttling the European army plan Monday in a vote by the French Assembly.

"It is a tragedy that in one country nationalism, abetted by communism, has asserted itself so as to endanger the whole of Europe," he said.

While hitting out at France, Dulles spoke of West Germany in these words:

"Germany cannot be subjected indefinitely to neutrality or otherwise be discriminated against in terms of her sovereignty including the inherent rights of individual and collective self-defense."

The secretary made it clear, however, he still opposes any plan to create a German national army, led by a German general staff. Effective defense of the European continent calls for "a substantial military contribution" from the Germans, he said, but:

"All, including the Germans themselves, would avoid national rearmament in a form which could be misused by resurgent militarism."

GOP Absolves Senator, Deserves Criticism, Democrats Decide

WASHINGTON (AP)—The four Republican senators who investigated the Army-McCarthy row said Tuesday night Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) exercised no improper influence personally on behalf of Pvt. G. David Schine, but the three Democrats said McCarthy deserved "severe criticism."

The quartet of GOP members, while clearing McCarthy of taking a personal hand in pressurizing the Army, said he should have wielded more vigorous control over his staff. They said Roy M. Cohn, resigned chief counsel to the McCarthy investigating subcommittee, was "unduly aggressive and persistent" in seeking preferential treatment for Schine.

The four Republicans making the report were Sens. Mundt (SD), Potter (Mich), Dirksen (Ill) and Dworshak (Idaho). Potter and Dirksen also filed supplementary statements on their individual views.

The minority report was filed by Sens. McClellan (D-Ark), Symington (D-Mo) and Jackson (D-Wash). Highlights from both documents were read to newsmen before the full documents themselves became available.

Besides hitting at McCarthy the trio of Democrats said Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens and Cohn also merited "severe criticism."

Sen. McClellan, senior Democrat on the investigating subcommittee, read from the minority report in a TV interview. He quoted it as saying that McCarthy "fully acquiesced in and condoned" what it described as Cohn's "improper actions" on behalf of Schine, a former unpaid subcommittee consultant.

The Democratic report held that both McCarthy and Cohn merited severe criticism for their "inexcusable actions."

As for Stevens, the Democrats said that he "pursued a course of appeasement" in the Schine affair in an effort to "to placate" McCarthy.

Concerning Cohn the Democrats asserted: "It is clear to us that Mr. Cohn persistently sought, with Mr. Schine's acquiescence, and without restraint from Sen. McCarthy, some means by which Mr. Schine could avoid basic training and the routine assignments of an inductee in the United States Army."

The Democrats also said McCarthy "may have violated the law in receiving and making use" of a 2 1/2 page summary of a secret FBI report on dangers of Red espionage at Ft. Monmouth, N.J. McCarthy has said he got the document from an Army intelligence source, but the Army declared it doesn't believe that was the source.

The four GOP senators said there was "much irrelevant and immaterial" testimony which had "no bearings" on the actual issue—did McCarthy and Cohn use improper influence?

They said that whether "serious contradictions" in testimony were "evidence of willful perjury" would have to be decided by the Department of Justice.

The Republicans made these four main findings:

1. That the charge of "exercising improper influence on the part of Sen. McCarthy in behalf of G. David Schine was not established insofar as the personal involvement of Sen. McCarthy in any effort unduly or improperly to influence the determination of the Pentagon decisions was concerned."

2. But McCarthy "should, however, have exercised more vigorous discipline in stopping any member of his staff from engaging in unduly persistent or aggressive effort in behalf of G. David Schine."

3. Testimony and evidence "refuted" the charges against Frank Carr, staff director of the investigations subcommittee. The committee voted early in the hearings to dismiss Carr as a principal.

4. Cohn was "unduly aggressive and persistent in the contacts he made with various individuals in the executive departments in regard to his friend an associate, Mr. Schine."

The young committee counsel, now a private New York lawyer, "consumed an inordinate amount of committee time in his efforts to be helpful to Mr. Schine," the report said.

Mine Workers Report $1.5 Million Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United Mine Workers Welfare and Retirement Fund, bouncing back from a 7 1/2 million dollar deficit last year, reported Tuesday a 1 1/2 million surplus for the year ended June 30.

This excess of income over outgo for the year boosted the fund's reserves to 93 1/2 million dollars on June 30. The fund is financed by royalties on coal production.

Helping the fund move into the black this year was the discontinuance April 1 of two emergency programs which in nine months had cost nearly 10 million dollars—for temporary maintenance of miners' widows and orphans, and special maintenance for families of miners undergoing rehabilitation.

Helping also was a $2,360,000 increase in receipts from the 40 cents a ton royalty on coal production. The rate went up from 30 to 40 cents Nov. 1, 1952, but the past fiscal year was the first full year in which it was effective for the full 12 months.

The fund's $100 monthly pensions to retired miners cost an added five million dollars last year but the total of all benefit payments declined $5,800,000 from the preceding year.

The fund added 276,763 persons during the year, compared with 266,421 the year before.

From its start in 1946, the trust had climbed steadily to a peak balance of 99 1/2 million dollars on June 30, 1952. But the 7 1/2 million deficit in 1952-53 cut it to 92 million June 30, 1953.

The new gain of $1,540,312 brought the fund up to $93,565,044 on last June 30. At that time, 54,937 aged, retired miners were receiving $100 a month pensions. Miners are eligible to retire at 60 provided they have worked 20 of the preceding 30 years in the mines.

Almost a million coal miners and their families have shared more than 641 millions in benefits since UMW President John L. Lewis won contract provisions for the welfare program in May, 1946.

During the eight years since then royalty revenues have totaled more than 735 millions.

WEST GERMAN DEFECTIONS

German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and his key supporters are understandably upset at the second defection of an important man from the Bonn government to East Germany.

Few of us ever heard of Karl Schmidt-Wittmack, but he evidently was a fair figure in Adenauer's Christian Democratic Party. It is not clear how much he may have known of German or Western security matters, or what documents he may have taken with him behind the Iron Curtain. The West Germans insist he knew little and took little.

Naturally enough they have labeled him a traitor. Added to the surprise defection of Dr. Otto John, former head of West German intelligence, Herr Schmidt-Wittmack's departure stirs uneasiness far beyond Germany's borders.

John had worked for British intelligence in wartime, and was for all practical purposes imposed upon the Bonn government by the occupying British. Hence they might contend with some sense that they never fully trusted him. Furthermore, there still seems to be a good deal of mystery surrounding John's motives and activities.

Indications are, however, that Schmidt-Wittmack may have been a Communist Party spy from the beginning. Why, then, should he not remain in West Germany and continue espionage?

The answer is his usefulness there may have been ended for some reason unknown to us, and the Communists, in characteristic fashion, tried to make political hay out of his move by treating it as a "defection."

So far the danger does not appear to lie in the political capital developed from the John and Schmidt-Wittmack cases. If there is any peril, it rests in what security secrets may have gone with them.

Should defections grow in number, though, the impact would be much more severe politically. Up to now, the communists could hardly match the West on the issue of defections. We have gained thousands of their disillusioned, while a mere trickle of Westerners has slipped under the Curtain. Any marker change in communism's favor would not help us in the war for men's minds.

Neither Germany nor the West as a whole should rest complacently on the numerical advantage we have today in this matter of defections. These two striking cases should be examined carefully by intelligence services for any signs of pattern or trend.

For it is obviously vital both politically and security-wise that we nip in the bud any tendency toward steady loss of key figures to communism.

MADE IT THE HARD WAY

A lot of Americans might ask to be forgiven for not knowing that former President Hoover had a son named Herbert, Jr. This situation will soon be remedied, for he has now been confirmed by the Senate as the next Undersecretary of State.

Like his father, Herbert Hoover, Jr., has been a successful mining engineer and businessman. One would be tempted to think of him as something of a youth, but he is actually 51.

He has not been in the public eye, nor had there been until recently any chance to observe what talent he might have for public affairs. But some months back he quietly undertook a very tough assignment—trying to work out an oil settlement with the relatively new, post-Mossadegh government of Iran.

Quietly and judiciously, the younger Hoover plugged away. He is credited widely with being a key factor in the solution finally and happily arrived at. His skill in negotiations at Tehran led directly to his appointment by President Eisenhower to succeed the retiring Gen. Walter Bedell Smith at the State Department.

That this hard-working, unobtrusive son of a former President has found his way into government is a healthy sign for our democracy. Congratulations are owing both to him and his celebrated father.

In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Someone had to remain loyal to the theater." That was Eva Legallienne's explanation of why she has never done a movie until now.

One of the great names of the theater, Miss Legallienne is here to act as technical adviser on "Prince of Players," the biography of Edwin Booth. The Shakespearean actor and brother of assassin John Wilkes Booth is being portrayed by Richard Burton, star of "The Robe."

Miss Legallienne watched with careful eye as Burton, dressed in a "Hamlet" costume, quipped a theater mob that was hurling insults and waving banners that abused actors. It seems that all of the acting profession, and especially Edwin Booth, were decimated after the shooting of President Lincoln.

When the extras had ended their clamor, I asked Miss Legallienne how she had been lured to Hollywood.

"It was for Shakespeare," she replied. "I will do anything to further my three favorites—Shakespeare, Ibsen and Chekhov."

She is not only advising on technical matters, but will also make her first screen appearance in the film. She'll play with Burton in scenes from "Hamlet" and "Richard III."

"That was not part of the bargain," she admitted. "But they convinced me I should do it."

The actress speaks strongly on matters Shakespearean, and she had pointed comments to make about other films that have been made of the bard's plays.

"I liked Olivier's 'Henry V,'" she said. "I think it was the best of the Shakespearean films I have seen. But I didn't care as much for his 'Hamlet.' I disagreed with many of the cuts he made in the text. And I didn't like the blond wig he wore. It made him look too old."

I thought Julius Caesar was good, but I disagreed with some things in it, too. For one thing, I didn't think Marc Anthony should have been played as a boy. After all, he was a man of about 40 and just a year later was having his affair with Cleopatra. I didn't think he should have been played so attractively as he was by Marlon Brando."

—U. S. District Judge Harold Medina denies he'll seek New York's governorship.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is an ABC on what President Eisenhower has just called a "major setback" in the fight against communism: the French refusal Monday night to join a single European army.

The Western Allies decided on a military alliance when, after the war, it became apparent the Communists were determined to take by force what they couldn't get otherwise. Big example was seizure of power in Czechoslovakia.

The Allies created NATO—North Atlantic Treaty Organization—under which they pledged to help one another in case of attack. Each member would keep its own army but there would be a general staff for planning.

NATO now has 14 members. Twelve signed the NATO agreement April 4, 1949: the United States, Britain, France, Italy, Canada, Belgium, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Denmark, Iceland, Norway, Portugal, Greece and Turkey joined in February 1952.

The United States contributes one third of NATO's cost. The other members put up four fifths of the forces. This country has six American divisions with NATO in Europe.

West Germany was not included in NATO. There were obvious reasons. This country, Britain and France—still keeping occupation troops in Germany—have not restored her independence or what diplomats call sovereignty.

Lacking sovereignty, she can't rearm. So long as she is defenseless, the Russians have a soft spot for attack. The Russians have opposed not only NATO but rearming of Germany. The Allies faced a question:

How to let Germany rearm but in a way to prevent her becoming a menace to her neighbors someday. In June 1950 the Communists showed how far they were willing to go in aggression with their attack on South Korea.

Four months later, on Oct. 26, 1950, Rene Pleven, then French Premier, proposed a plan which in that early stage won approval of the French Parliament. It was the single European army idea, called EDC—the European Defense Community.

This is how it shaped up: six European countries—France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg, the Netherlands—would pool their armies in a single European army under a unified command of their own choosing.

Except for West Germany, all these EDC countries were already members of NATO. But whereas the other NATO allies would keep their individual armies, the EDC countries no longer would have national armies of their own.

This single European army—made up of troops from the six EDC countries—would be part of NATO's defense planning.

On May 27, 1952, the six EDC countries' foreign ministers signed an agreement to set it up. This did not by itself create EDC. It couldn't come into existence until the parliaments of all six countries approved.

Four of them—West Germany, Belgium, Luxembourg, the Netherlands—gave approval. The Italian Parliament didn't approve but was expected to when the French did. The French Parliament, rent with factions, balked.

Russia tried every trick to keep EDC from being born. Communists in the French Parliament, following the Russian line, fought EDC approval. French nationalists, who wanted France to keep her national army and not merge it in EDC, fought it too.

In addition, there was French fear of Germany rearmend under any circumstances, and fear, no matter how EDC was unified, that Germany would control it. Russia played on these French worries.

The United States and Britain looked upon EDC as essential for defense of Europe, making use of German manpower, and at the same time keeping Germany from becoming a menace as she might with her own national army.

Although France had proposed EDC four years ago and France agreed to set up EDC two years ago, no French premier chanced asking Parliament, with its hostile mood, to vote on it. The French would have felt safer tied into EDC with Germany if Britain would join EDC also. Britain wouldn't.

At last the present French Premier and foreign minister, Pierre Mendes-France, decided to put EDC to a vote in Parliament. First he tried to get the other five EDC countries to agree to changes in the 1952 agreement which would have made EDC more a fiction than a reality.

He suggested, for instance, that EDC be on trial for eight years and that anyone of the six members could veto what the other five wanted to do. The other five turned him down.

No lover of EDC, Mendes-France asked Parliament to vote. It did last night, against EDC. That wrecked it.

For a Dish With a Foreign Accent, Try Veal Oriental

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Markets Editor

Veal is plentiful now and prices should be more easily into your budget. So we asked Mabel Stegner, of New York, a distinguished home economist and gourmet, to work out a veal recipe with a foreign accent. Here is her Oriental reply.

Veal Chops Oriental

(4 servings)
Four veal chops, 1 inch thick, 2 teaspoons kitchen bouquet, 2 tablespoons fat, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon rubbed marjoram, 3-ounce can sliced broiled mushrooms, 8-ounce can water chestnuts, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1 tablespoon vermouth or sherry optional.

Brush chops on all sides with kitchen bouquet. Place fat in Dutch oven or large frying pan over moderate heat. Brown chops quickly on all sides, add onion and cook 1 minute. Add salt, marjoram and broth from mushrooms. Cover tightly and allow to simmer over low heat until chops are tender, about 20 minutes.

In the meantime drain chestnuts, preserving broth, and cut in slices about 1/4 inch thick. Add sufficient water to the chestnut broth to make 1 cup. When chops are tender pour in 1/4 cup of the chestnut broth. Combine and add cornstarch with remaining chestnut broth, stirring until sauce is thick and clear. Add vermouth or sherry if desired. Add mushrooms and chestnuts and let heat thoroughly, but not boil, about 5 minutes. Serve immediately with hot buttered rice.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Veal chops Oriental, chestnut-mushroom sauce, hot buttered rice, canned all-green asparagus with pimiento strips, crusty bread, butter or margarine, mixed green salad, lattice peach pie, coffee, tea, or milk.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"Where have you been keeping yourself?" My friends have been asking lately. "Haven't seen or heard from you in ages. You hiding from somebody?"

This burns me up. Hiding? Not exactly. I've just been appearing weekly on a summer replacement radio show.

Maybe that is a form of hiding. They say that the two most anonymous jobs in the entertainment world are: (1) acting as a stand-in target for a professional knife thrower while his wife is away having a baby, and (2) appearing on a summer fill-in radio or TV show.

Well, anybody knows a knife thrower about to become a father?

It wasn't a bad little show, it was one of those four-member news quiz panel programs.

You know how they select the panels? Well, they pick (1) a pretty, witty, charming girl, (2) a smart, clever girl, (3) an anchor man who is good at wisecracks and (4) the "uh-uh" man.

The "uh-uh" man plays a vital role. He is the needed area of ignorance. If he ever gets a right answer, it is by accident. His wit is simple and stern. He must know so little that any member of the audience can turn to his wife and say, "Listen to him, honey. I thought you always said I was the dumbest guy in the world."

"I am not going into the reasons why I was picked for the panel. But at the end of the first show the engineer said admiringly: 'Boyle, your last 'uh-uh' was worthy of a Barrymore.'"

We thought we might last as long as "Uncle Tom's Cabin" until last week, when we were told: "This is the last one, kids. Sorry. You're terrific, great, wonderful. But you're only sustaining, and a sponsor wants this time for another show."

When we were off the air, I leaned back expectantly. What would happen now? Everybody knows the show must go on tradition. What about the show has to go off tradition?

Frankly, I thought the door would open and Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff, head of RCA, would enter followed by a battalion of NBC page boys carrying champagne and caviar sandwiches.

Then, wiping away his tears, Sarnoff would lift his booming glass high and say brokenly: "To a great panel! You have raised radio to new heights."

But the door didn't open. We panelists looked at each other and said tentatively, "Well, been nice. Be seeing you." The engineer said "So long."

That was all. So brief a parting. I felt oddly lonely as I walked alone down the hall. I passed two teen-age girls who had been in the studio audience a few moments before, and one said: "who's he?"

Here's Ike-Benson Farm Program in a Nutshell

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The best way to understand the new Eisenhower-Benson farm program passed by Congress is through a list of dates on which changes from the old law will go into effect.

As drought relief for livestock raisers from now until March 1, 1955, Commodity Credit Corporation may sell its surplus feed grains at 110 per cent of the current support price. After March 1 the price will go back to 105 per cent of parity plus carrying charges.

Before Jan. 3, 1955, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson must report to Congress on alternatives for new price-support plan on dairy products. Until a new plan is adopted by the next Congress, whole milk, butterfat and their products will continue to receive support at 75 (the present level) to 90 per cent of parity.

These interim dairy surplus disposal plans will be in force:

From Sept. 1, 1954 until June 30, 1955 CCC may spend $50 million a year to increase consumption of dairy products in the school-lunch program. Dairy product surpluses may also be given to the Veterans Administration and the armed services, over and above their normal commercial purchases on payment of packaging and shipping costs.

The Secretary of Agriculture is also authorized to use any other means he considers necessary to get rid of dairy surpluses.

The date on which the secretary may proclaim the corn-producing area remains Feb. 1. Marketing quotas for corn have been ended for 1955 and later crops. But acreage allotment authority remains.

Beginning April 1, 1955, and for four years thereafter, incentive payments may be made to U. S. wool growers, up to 110 per cent of parity. The money to pay for this incentive is to come from 70 per cent of specific duties collected on wool imports in the preceding calendar year.

Customs receipts on wool were approximately $50 million last year. Seventy per cent of that would be $35 million, which is a fair estimate on this new subsidy, intended to increase domestic wool production. The U. S. now produces about a third of the wool it uses.

This is a marked change from the present 90 per cent of parity support on domestic wool. Mohair prices in the future will be supported to within 15 per cent of the new wool support price.

The Latest Date on which the secretary may proclaim wheat marketing quotas and acreage allotments has been moved up from July 15 to May 15. This is well ahead of the harvest season.

A new "noncommercial" wheat-producing area has been established. It includes any state producing less than 25,000 bushels annually. This will probably be the six New England states plus Alabama, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi, Nevada and Arizona. There will be no wheat marketing quotas in these states and price supports will be at only three-fourths of the commercial wheat-raising states' area.

No changes have been made on any dates affecting the cotton crop. But county committees are given more authority to allocate cotton acreages on the basis of plantings during any of the three previous years. County committees may also limit any farm acreage allotment to not more than 50 per cent of the cropland on the farm.

For the 1955 crops, wide changes will be made on price supports. Only tobacco will continue to be supported at 90 per cent of parity. Wheat, corn, cotton, rice and peanuts will drop to a flexible, 82 1/2 to 90 per cent of parity as proclaimed by the secretary.

For the 1956 crops and thereafter, price-support levels for these basics will drop to a flexible 75 to 90 per cent of parity. This eventual shift back to a 75 per cent minimum has not been sufficiently emphasized and is not too well understood.

The other big change is that beginning with the 1956 crops, but not before, a gradual shift will be made to a modernized parity formula for wheat, corn, cotton and peanuts.

The present formula was based on 1909-14 averages. The new formula will be based on price relationships of the most recent ten years. The base period will thus change annually in continuous adjustment.

Today's calculations are that for 1956 crops, parity prices will drop by 39 cents per bushel on wheat, 22 cents per bushel on corn, 18 cents per pound on cotton and 28 cents per pound on peanuts.

But to prevent such abrupt drops as this, it is provided that the deadline may be no more than 5 per cent in any one year.

CCC is given authority to set aside $2.5 billion worth of surpluses for school lunch, disaster relief and stockpile programs. The effect may be to boost prices in the face of other expected drops.

Humans Can Contract Disease From Infected Birds

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Disturbing reports of outbreaks of a disease known as psittacosis have appeared in many corners of the continent during the past few months. That this is not totally unexpected is shown by the publication of an article forecasting an increase in this disease in the American Journal of Public Health last November.

Psittacosis is not a new disease but it can and does produce most unpleasant symptoms and it is a matter of considerable concern also because it can be spread to human beings either from birds kept as pets, or from other people with the disease.

PSITTACOSIS is caused by a virus. In human beings it produces a high fever with symptoms in the lung much like those of pneumonia. In a person ill with the disease the virus can be found in the sputum and if this sputum is injected into mice it will produce the disease in these animals.

The disease is primarily one of birds, such as parrots, parakeets and lovebirds. It attacks these birds readily. In one shipment of 161 parrots, parakeets and conures from South America, only 16 were found to be free of the virus which causes this disease.

In 1932, 76 cases of psittacosis were reported in the United States and seven died from the disease. During 1933, only 15 cases and four deaths were reported.

The rapid improvement came from a quarantine which was imposed by the federal government on the shipping of parrots and similar birds between the states. Since that time our public health services have been engaged in a continuous battle to eliminate psittacosis in susceptible birds. Infected birds have been destroyed and the importation of infected birds has been prohibited.

The disease has not entirely died out among human beings, and the likelihood of contracting it seems to be increasing again.

Psittacosis in human beings resembles virus or a typical pneumonia. Fortunately there is a specific test available which can be used to make the diagnosis definite.

So far as treatment is concerned, either serum taken from a victim of the disease who is convalescing or a goat serum which has been produced, seem to shorten the course of human psittacosis. Some of the antibiotic preparations probably offer the best hope of prompt and effective treatment.

The important point, however, is for anyone who keeps birds to make sure that their pets are healthy and free of psittacosis virus by having them examined by a veterinarian.

Bitter Sage

XXVI

LUKE MILLER walked down South Street to the corner and turned to his shop.

"You'd better go and vote now," he said to Hudkins and Tancred.

"I haven't been in town long enough to vote," Tancred said.

"You've been here longer than the 62 men who just voted," snapped Miller.

Tancred whistled softly. "So that's what the noise was about!"

Miller nodded. "Those 62 votes are enough to swing it. About a hundred people voted before they showed up. I think we'd have made it, by 40, maybe 50 votes. I figured on a total vote of possibly 300 and I thought we'd swing about 170 of the total. But now..." He shook his head.

"Have any of the farmers come in yet?"

"What farmers?"

"Quite a few are still around."

"They only come into town when they have to. The Texas men push them around."

"But they're on your side."

A gleam of hope came to Miller's eyes. "If we had enough men and horses..." He paused. "The livery stable's got a dozen horses or more."

"It's Fugger's livery stable."

"All the better," Miller suddenly chuckled. "Mose," he shouted. "Quick, pull a proof of our subscription list!"

While Hudkins followed out Miller's instructions, the newspaperman turned to Tancred. "We can't cover them all, but you and some of my friends can reach half of them. I'm sure. Those you talk to can tell others."

TEN minutes later, astride a rented horse, Tancred rode out of Sage City. He took the south road, but once he passed the last house, he turned to the west and south, cutting across the prairie.

Then a half-buried sod house loomed up before him. It was a miserable house, built of logs and mud, with sod serving for roofing. Behind it was a tiny corral in which stood two work-horses and a single cow.

As Tancred rode up, a man came out of the sod house with a rifle in his hands.

The man looked at Tancred through slitted, red eyes. "I don't want no trouble. I'm pulling up stakes in a couple of days and I don't want no trouble with anyone."

"I'm not going to make any trouble," Tancred said. "It's just, well, they're having an election in town today and we're asking everybody to come in and vote."

"Vote for who?"

"That's for you to decide. Vote for whoever you please. The main thing is we want you to vote."

"I don't know nothin' about votin'," the man said, dispiritedly. "I'm a farmer. Least I thought I was"—he made a sudden, spiteful gesture with his rifle toward the east—"if those cowboys'd let me. I had a crop of wheat started and they turned their steers loose on it."

"That," said Tancred, "is what the voting's about. Some of the people in town want to put a stop to things like that. And you can help, by voting."

The man cocked his head to one side. "Nobody cares about us farmers. Everybody calls us squatters."

"A group of people in town sent me out here," Tancred persisted. "They want to put a stop to Jacob Fugger's one-man rule of Sage County."

"You mean I could vote against Jacob Fugger?" the squatter asked with sudden interest.

"You can."

"And what'll Fugger do to anyone who votes against him?"

"There's nothing he can do. Besides, he won't know who's voted against him."

Tancred grabbed up his reins. "Think it over. But remember the polls close at 6 o'clock. Get in town before then if you want to vote."

By mid-afternoon Tancred had ridden 30 miles, in a wide circle, and had found eight farmers. His circle had brought him close to Sage City again and his heaving horse told him that he could not ride much farther.

Ahead, was a herd of Texas longhorns. He circled to the left and saw that he would pass near a cowboy.

The man was slumped in his saddle. As Tancred came up he glanced idly at him and averted his eyes, but suddenly they darted back to Tancred, in sudden shock.

A shudder ran through Tancred. He pulled up his mount.

"Tancred," said Dave Heim.

THE years disappeared. The man facing Tancred had been one of Quantrell's chief lieutenants, had commanded the troop of which Tancred had been a member. And Dave Heim—Dave Heim had been present when Tancred and Sam Older had faced each other in that crashing finale!

Tancred said, "Hello, Dave."

Dave Heim exhaled heavily. "It's been a long time, Wes." He shook his head. "How have things been with you?"

"Not good," Tancred replied, steadily. He gestured to the herd. "You're a cowboy?"

Heim shrugged. "Texas seemed like a good place, back in '67. I haven't been north until now."

"This is one of Hong Kong Smith's herds?"

"I work on his home ranch. You, Wes?"

"I haven't stayed very long in one place."

"I've heard a lot about you," Heim grimaced. "That song, they sing it all the time down in Texas. Made things kind of rough for you, hasn't it?"

Nine Lettermen Back, I.S.D. Gridders Start Drills Today

Thirty-three players are expected to answer Coach Jim Spink's invitation as the Illinois School for the Deaf starts football practice today.

Coach Spink will issue equipment sometime this morning and expects to hold a workout this afternoon.

Klu Hits Two But Phillies Stop Redlegs 9-3

CINCINNATI (AP) — Philadelphia pitcher Herm Wehmeier Tuesday fanned his former Cincinnati Redlegs teammates—except for Ted Kluszewski who hit his 40th and 41st homers—as the Phils snapped an eight-game losing streak with a 9-3 victory. Big Klu took the major league home run leadership from New York's Willie Mays, who went into Tuesday night's game with 39 roundtrippers.

Wehmeier, traded to the Phils this season, allowed only eight hits, three of them in the last inning, and issued no walks.

Klus's homers were in the sixth and ninth frames with no one aboard. He broke the all-time Cincinnati Redlegs homer record of 40, which the talented first baseman set last year.

But the Phils had too much power for the Reds Tuesday. Johnny Wyrostek homered with one on base in the first inning and Earl Torgeson opened the ninth with a home run. The Phils hit safely in every inning, collecting 17 in all.

Athletics Take Two From Orioles

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Athletics took both ends of a twin-bill game from the Baltimore Orioles 8-6 and 6-3 Tuesday night and moved into seventh place in the American League. Both wins came on the strength of eighth inning rallies.

Rookie Joe Taylor provided the big punch in the A's late nightcap flareup. After Lou Limmer singled and Elmer Vao walked, Taylor tripled both runners home and then scored on a wild pitch by hurler Don Larsen.

The A's picked up their other three tallies in the fourth. Spook Jacobs walked and Limmer tripled. Vao's double brought Limmer home before the rally was ended. The Orioles scored all three runs in the seventh on four singles and Vern Stephens' groundout.

Conley Hurls As Braves Shutout Dodgers 2-0

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Gene Conley, towering rookie right-hander, held Brooklyn to three hits Tuesday as the Milwaukee Braves defeated the Dodgers 2-0 on Bobby Thomson's first-inning single and Del Crandall's second-inning home run.

The victory cut the Braves' deficit to the second-place Dodgers to four games and left them seven in back of first-place New York, scheduled to play at St. Louis Tuesday night. The Dodgers now trail the Giants by three.

Conley, winning his fifth straight over the Dodgers this year, allowed only two soft singles until the ninth when Junior Gilliam slammed a leadoff double into right field. The 6-foot-8 youngster, however, got Pee Wee Reese on an infield bouncer, struck out Duke Snider and forced Gil Hodges to fly out.

The Dodgers failed to get a man beyond first base until Gilliam made it in the ninth and, until that inning, had hit only five balls to the outfield.

Conley struck out six and didn't walk a man but hit one batsman. Don Newcombe, who went the first seven innings for Brooklyn, gave up only five hits and struck out eight. His only walk, to lead-off hitter Billy Bruton, led to the first run. Bruton stole second, his 28th theft of the year, and scored on Thomson's single which fell in front of Snider in center.

Crandall accounted for the other run leading off the second, cracking a 2-1 pitch for his 16th homer of the year.

Nine letter winners from last year's club will be on hand for opening workouts. A strong point in Coach Spink's favor will be the returning backfield. Al Duncan returns to take over the quarterback spot while Jerry Kane, Jack Rampley and Lamont Kleck will be on hand for running duty.

Linemen returning include: Lloyd Embree and Bill Zachariasen at ends, Dick Thrast at a tackle, Bob Brinkman at guard and George Kuttilek a tackle of last year. Spink indicated he may move Kuttilek to the center spot. It will be the final year for seven of these returnees.

Among the newcomers Spink and his assistant Melvin Bravel will be looking over are Teddy Schultz, a freshman candidate for tackle and Billy Ritchey, a junior. Promising guard candidates include Milos Marjan and Ronald Broseghini.

The Tigers will play all of their home games in the afternoon.

Two of their away games will be under the lights.

79 Notre Dame Candidates Have 'Dress Rehearsal'

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — "Victory Through Team Strength" is the 1954 football slogan at Notre Dame as 26-year-old Terry Brennan takes command as head coach.

The youthful successor to Frank Leahy Tuesday welcomed 79 candidates who cavorted in a full dress rehearsal for the benefit of newsmen and photographers. It was "picture taking day."

Real practice work starts Wednesday.

"Most of last year's undefeated team had played together for two years," said Brennan, in stressing what he considers his biggest problem. "Out of 16 lettermen lost were such outstanding backs as Johnny Lattner, Tom McHugh and Neil Worden and such regulars in the line as Jim Schrader, Menil Mavrides, Art Hunter and Don Penza."

"I consider that my biggest task is to weld together as a unit a team whose members know each other so well that reactions of each in our pattern of defensive and offensive plays will become automatic and instinctive."

"I'm not trying to minimize our chances. But I do want to present the problems we have to meet. We have to replace the entire right side of our line. Right now we don't even have initial depth."

We have another big replacement job at fullback after losing Worden and his understudy McHugh. "On the bright side of things, however, we have four full time regulars returning. Among 17 lettermen they are left tackle Frank Varrichione, who is being moved to right tackle, left guard Ray Lemek, quarterback Ralph Guglielmi and left half Joe Heap."

Notre Dame opens the season Sept. 25 against Texas.

The United States still has about 45,000 one-room school houses, but the number is shrinking at the rate of 10 a day, says the National Geographic Society.

FAN BREEZES

BY BILL MERRIS

The fabulous "Goose" Tatum really put on a show for the 5000 fans who jammed the grandstand at the fairgrounds in Springfield Monday night. We really enjoyed the show put on by the Globetrotters as they defeated the United States All-Stars 52-45.

Besides putting on quite a show for the fans the "clown prince of basketball" poured 23 points through the hoop to set the scoring pace. He's just about as good a ball player as we have ever seen perform. The stars didn't want much to do with "the goose." Of course if you want to look bad just try to get the ball away from him.

The Trotters' center, Walter Dukes is a fair ball player in his own right. Sweetwater Clifton and Clarence Wilson also kept the fans on the edges of their seats. Wilson is the replacement for Marcus Haines and he left nothing to be desired in the way of ball handling.

The All-Stars weren't lacking in stars either. Paul Arizin, a former all-American, scored ten points. Larry Rosenthal from Notre Dame looked good at times but didn't score much.

The opening game of the night turned out to be a scoring duel between Bill Spivey and Bevo Francis. The former star from Kentucky scored 28 points as his House of David club lost to Bevo Francis' Boston Whirlwinds 44-41. Bevo scored 22 points, a good majority of them coming from free tosses.

Bevo had his hands full with the 7-foot Spivey. In fact the former Rio Grande scoring ace couldn't move around under the basket without finding himself in trouble. This trouble was usually in the form of one or two bearded players. They really had him tied up. Although he proved to be a good shot from out front we still don't see how he could have scored 112 points in a single game.

Bevo's coach at Rio Grande, Newt Oliver, is also part of the show. The little coach who created a stir when he pulled his team off the floor at Kansas City last winter is the coach of the Whirlwinds.

Cubs Hand Bucs Double Loss, Win Streak At 6

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs set back the Pittsburgh Pirates twice Tuesday, 14-2 and 7-3, extending their winning streak to six straight games and giving Manager Stan Hack a record of 11 victories in 16 home games.

Bob Rush smashed his second home run of the season and a two-run triple besides pitching his ninth victory. Rush tied in the eighth and was relieved by Hal Jeffcoat. He left Jeffcoat with the bases full, but the reliever struck out Curt Roberts to end the threat and the inning.

Howie Pollet scattered eight hits to win his eighth game in the opener. He got three of the Cubs' 19 hits off three Pirate hurlers, and batted in three runs. Outfielder Hank Sauer clubbed his 35th home run and set a new National League record in most home runs off one club. It was his 13th against the Pirates.

TALKING THINGS OVER

66 Candidates Open Illini Drills Today

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Sept. 1.—Sixty-six candidates for the 1954 University of Illinois football squad opened drills this morning as Coach Ray Eliot began the task of molding a team to defend its share of the Big Ten conference title.

Only four starters from the 1954 championship team lined up with the "Whites" as Eliot sent his squad through its paces this morning. The Illini will be on a two-day schedule, with practices at 9:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. for "at least two weeks," Eliot said.

Eliot pointed out that team alignments were subject to change at any time and that "every man on the squad will have to prove himself to maintain his position."

Saddler Draws Rough Criticism

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Featherweight champion Sandy Saddler drew hot criticism from Venezuelan sports writers Tuesday for rough tactics in his one-round knockout victory over Jackie Blair of Texas Monday night.

"Saddler again used prohibited tactics, and was twice warned by the referee," El Nacional said. "He held and punched, used his elbows illegally and gouged his opponent mercilessly around the eyes."

JIM THORPE, PA.
JIM THORPE, Pa. (AP) — The post office in this small Pennsylvania coal mining town Wednesday officially takes the name of Jim Thorpe.

Up to now it has been known as Mauch Chunk. Mauch Chunk became Jim Thorpe, after a referendum last May, in honor of the great Carlisle School Indian who died of cancer about a year ago. The town has about 9,000 inhabitants.

Indians Whip Yanks 6-1 Behind Wynn, Increase Lead To 5 1/2

NEW YORK (AP) — Early Wynn fashioned a brilliant two-hitter Tuesday night and pitched the Cleveland Indians to a 6-1 triumph over the world champion New York Yankees, shoving the Yanks 5 1/2 games back of the Indians in the American League pennant chase.

A two-out homer by Irv Noren in the seventh and a two-out pinch single by Enos Slaughter in the eighth were the only blemishes on Wynn's spectacular performance.

The chunky right-hander didn't permit a Yankee to reach base until he walked Mickey Mantle with two out in the fourth. He walked one more man and fanned three in breaking the Yankees' six-game winning streak. The decision leveled the season series between the two clubs at 9-9, but it was the sixth triumph for the Indians in nine starts in Yankee Stadium.

Cleveland scored twice in the fourth and clinched the game in the eighth with four runs, three of them on a two-on homer by weak-hitting Dave Philley.

Rookie Bob Grim, who had won 17 games, gave up all the runs and was charged with his sixth loss, Jim Konstanty, formerly with the Philadelphia Phillies, made his first appearance for New York as a relief pitcher in the ninth and gave up the last of Cleveland's nine hits, a single by Jim Hegan.

The Indians had the crowd of 58,859 gasping right at the start when they filled the bases in the first inning before a man was retired. Al Smith walked, Bobby Avila singled and Larry Doby walked. But Al Rosen hit into a spectacular double play, from Willie Miranda at short to second baseman Gerry Coleman to catcher Yogi Berra and Vic Wertz fled to Noren to end the threat without a run.

Noren's homer and Slaughter's clean-cut single through the second base hole were untainted but the Yankees didn't come close to getting another hit off the varied offerings of the 34-year-old Wynn who posted his 19th victory. Mantle lined with power into right field in the seventh, but the ball went directly at Philley who caught it without trouble.

Cleveland has four games left with New York in Yankee Stadium Wednesday and Thursday and a doubleheader in Cleveland Sept. 12.

McCall Stars In Relief: Giants Beat Cards 5-3

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Willie Mays and McCall, p2 0 0 0 0
Jim Rhodes each drove in two runs Tuesday night as the New York Giants used the brilliant five-inning one-hit relief pitching of lefty John (Windy) McCall for a 5-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals, increasing their National League lead to three and one-half games.

McCall, taking over after starter Don Liddle had been hammered for three St. Louis runs in the fourth, inherited a two-run lead and protected it to gain credit for his second victory. He has been defeated twice.

Ten of New York's 11 hits came off Ralph Beard and Gerry Staley in the first five innings and six of St. Louis' seven hits were recorded off Liddle, who was making his third start in five days.

McCall, taking over in the last of the fifth, was in trouble only in the sixth when St. Louis loaded the bases with two out on Jablonski's single and walks to Jole Frazier and Cunningham. Solly Hemus, batting for Ben Wade, third of four Redbird pitchers, ended the inning by lining to Davey Williams at second base.

McCall retired the last 10 batters to face him.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (U)—The stock market fell hard in a frenzy of selling Tuesday, then launched a vigorous recovery drive that cut losses materially.

Within the space of a few minutes in the final hour, the tape was late both in a sharp tumble and a spirited rally of prices.

The decline uncovered losses running to around four points, but the worst of the drop was covered by one to three points in key areas. Plus signs were fractional and scarce.

The market a week ago Friday hit a 25-year high, and since then it has declined in six out of seven sessions. Brokers regarded the selloff as a normal reaction from the peak, inasmuch as there has not been a sizable correction in the market in the past year.

Each day as prices worked lower, there was an increasing air of caution in Wall Street. Volume remained low and everything was done in moderation.

In the final hour of trading, selling grew slowly, mounted then with unaccustomed speed, and suddenly spread quickly. The ticker dropped a minute behind in reporting deals on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange. The congestion lasted only six minutes.

A few minutes later, the tape again was late—this time two minutes and the market was rising under a flood of buying orders. It was around 11 minutes before order was restored as the rally spent itself.

Aircrafts were heavily sold and were big losers. Steels and railroads suffered. Many of these stocks and others, however, halved their losses.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down $2.00, third greatest decline this year, and it closed at $128.90. That is $6 under the high of the year.

The industrial component of the average was off $2.90, the railroads slumped $1.70, and the utilities were down 60 cents.

Volume mounted to 2,640,000 shares, biggest total of the current reaction. Monday's business amounted to 1,950,000 shares with the market lower.

The American Stock Exchange was lower on 600,000 shares.

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK (U)—Railroads were heaviest in a declining bond market Tuesday.

"Big Board" volume built up to $3,900,000 par value from $2,970,000 Monday. It was the busiest session in nearly two weeks as many investors sold to protect profits accumulated since the year began.

The decline was not sharp, but it extended to a large majority of the corporate list. However, losses among utilities and industrials were generally minor fractions. Convertibles were adversely affected by the stock market shake-out.

Most U. S. government bonds were steady.

GRAINS REGISTER FAIR SIZED LOSSES

By WILLIAM FERRIS
CHICAGO (U)—A slow, quiet downward drift which lasted throughout the session left grains with fair-sized losses on the Board of Trade Tuesday.

While the selling wasn't very heavy the market didn't show any ability to rally at any time. Major losses centered in rye, largely on profit taking after the recent sharp advance, and soybeans. The latter were sold on excellent crop prospects.

Wheat closed 1 to 2 cents lower, corn 1 to 2 cents lower, oats 1 to 1 1/2 lower, rye 2 1/2-3/4 lower, soybeans 1 1/4-3/4 lower and laid 10 to 40 cents a hundred pounds lower.

Selling in corn followed the regular monthly crop report of Howard Gramlich, director of agricultural development of the Chicago and North Western Railway, in which he raised his estimate of the crop to 2 1/2 billion bushels from 2 1/4 billion a month ago.

In its weekly comment the Weather Bureau also noted improvement in corn, particularly in the late fields. It added, "Corn continues in very good condition in northern and central sections of Iowa, Illinois and Indiana."

Gramlich also was highly optimistic about the soybean crop and the Weather Bureau took the same line, stating, "In the northern and middle portions of the commercial area soybeans have improved greatly and prospects are generally good."

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

CHICAGO (U)—Hogs broke to another new low for the year Tuesday in moderately active to slow dealings. Weakness in wholesale pork and larger than expected receipts, totaling 10,000 head, combined to send butchers down 50 cents to $1.25 and sows 50 cents to $1.00.

Choice 120 to 260-pound butchers sold at $19.00 to $20.00, with most sales at $19.75 down. The $20.00 top was a new low since Feb. 10, 1953.

The stamp reproduces a statue in the yard of the former German War Ministry, where the plotters were executed.

Council Takes Whiff Of Brook Water; Asks Immediate Cleanup

Turning from the more ponderous business of building a water pipe line from the Illinois river, which has been the leading subject at sessions during the past few weeks, the city council Monday night:

Took a collective whiff of freshly bucketed water from the city brook as a container was passed around the table; then mapped action to demand that the State of Illinois make changes in the sewerage arrangements at the State Hospital hog farm, southwest of the city.

Passed a resolution prohibiting the use of goldfish minnows for bait in all three Jacksonville lakes.

Discussed codification of municipal ordinances, which will be mimeographed and made available to attorneys and other interested parties for certain fees, which were established by resolution.

Alderman Mathews informed the council that numerous complaints have been received from persons in the town brook area, which intersections Jacksonville from west to east. Mathews said the stench has increased noticeably during the past several days.

Kelly Produces "Evidence"

A small container of water wrapped in a paper sack was then introduced as "evidence" by Alderman Kelly. After smelling the contents the council was in unanimous agreement that the brook is smelling too loud.

Kelly voiced an opinion, as did other aldermen, that conditions along the brook are attributable to the state-owned hog farm. He declared that the state should act immediately to eliminate the hazard to health.

City Attorney Ballatti said the state architect's office was advised more than two months ago regarding a plan to connect the hog farm with the city sewer system, but that no action had been taken.

On motion of Alderman Allen, seconded by Alderman Mathews, the council voted to instruct the city attorney to communicate with the Department of Welfare authorities at Springfield Tuesday, requesting immediate action to eliminate the situation that they say affects the brook.

A petition asking permission to reroute two electric high lines over city-owned property along the brook was received from W. R. Hawkins, area manager of the Illinois Power

Co., and read by City Clerk Phillips.

Hawkins said the company proposes to reroute a 33,000 volt line now located on East Chambers, South East, Franklin, and South Main streets, and a 12,000 volt line now located on West Chambers, Park, Mound, and North Webster avenue.

Asks Right To Cross Lots

Both lines would be located on the same poles along the north side of the brook from South Main to the C. B. & Q. railroad, at which point they would go north, the petition stated. Hawkins explained that the proposed new route is fairly free from trees, and that it would remove the high lines from congested streets. He asked the city's permission to cross its property adjacent to the brook.

On motion of Alderman Mathews, seconded by Alderman Rowe, the council extended permission to the company to cross city-owned property under supervision of the municipal light department. It also was specified in the resolution that the Illinois Power Co. bear the expense of abstracts necessary to locating the power line.

Councilmen reported that investigation has shown that "No Parking" signs on Wolcott street west of Sandy street near the Jackson Feed Mills and Brinker truck terminal should be removed. The removal of the signs was authorized in a resolution introduced by Alderman May, seconded by Alderman Allen.

To Redistribute Insurance

Alderman Rowe of the insurance committee recommended that the city's insurance business be distributed more equitably among about 20 agents. The premiums run from $9 to $1,500 with various agents, he said. The council concurred with Rowe's suggestion, which will be put into effect as policies expire.

Codification of ordinances was discussed by Alderman Rowe, reporting for the judiciary committee. He said it is planned to mimeograph copies of ordinances and put them together in notebook form. The last codification of ordinances was done in 1908.

Rowe recommended a minimum fee of 50 cents and a maximum fee of $2 for copies of the ordinances, which was voted in a resolution made by Alderman Rowe, seconded by Alderman Mathews.

A report of the Jacksonville Plan Commission of action taken on two petitions at hearings held Aug. 30 was read by the city attorney. The Plan Commission recommended changing lots 1, 2, 3, 4 in Lorton & Kedzie subdivision of lot 11 in lot 6, Lorton & Kedzie southern addition, to Class D multiple use. It was explained that through error in description the lots involved already are being used for multiple dwellings, being the location of the apartments on Hardin avenue owned by the T. & C. Sales Co. The shift in zone classification was voted in a resolution made by Alderman Chumley, seconded by Alderman Allen.

The Plan Commission also recommended a deletion from the zoning ordinance that "buildings be set back from all yard lines a distance of not more than one foot for each foot of building height." This was voted with an emergency clause, on motions by Alderman Chumley and Allen.

The deletion made at the request of Mrs. Mary Louise Newman, E. C. Bone and Harvey D. Scott, in connection with plans for a clinic building on West State street.

Goldfish Bait Illegal

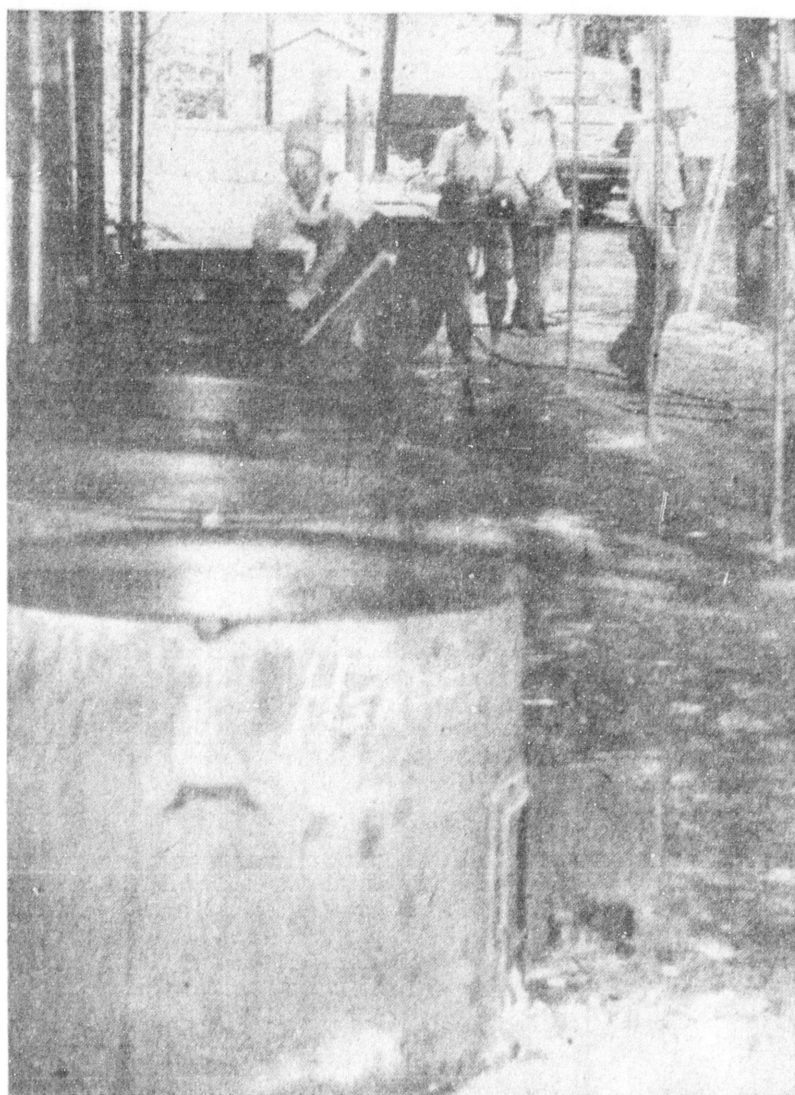

Alderman Kelly reported that several sportsmen have informed him that goldfish minnows are being used as bait by fishermen in Lake Jacksonville. Goldfish minnows, the alderman said, are a member of the carp family and in several instances have overrun lakes. A few may wriggle loose from a hook or be thrown in by a careless angler, Kelly explained, and then propagate rapidly.

Use of these minnows in all three lakes, Jacksonville, Mauvasterre and Morgan, was prohibited in a resolution introduced by Alderman Kelly, seconded by Alderman Allen. Kelly said Lake Jacksonville has lost an inch since the recent rains, and is now 14 feet 10 inches below spillway level. Lake Mauvasterre, which reached the flash boards on the spillway last week, is now going down at the rate of one-half inch per day.

Announcement also was made by Alderman Kelly that the Illinois State Department of Conservation is preparing to make a survey at Lake Jacksonville, to ascertain the condition of fish and the approximate population of fish. This is done by an electrical device, he said.

The council voted its appreciation to the Rogers Carriage Co. for the use of a large tank at the Nichols park swimming pool this summer. The tank was used for storage of "make-up" water during the time water conservation measures were in effect.

will go toward the community-building programs sponsored by the three organizations.

Last night the entire community turned out to prepare bushels of fine vegetables, chickens and beef under the guidance of Soupmaker Eliza Perry of Mercedosa and before midnight the first of the nine giant kettles was bubbling. If all goes well the soup will be ready to serve by 11 a.m. today.

Pool Attendance For Season Was 56,644

When the last swimmer stepped out of the Nichols park pool Sunday evening another new year's attendance record was inscribed in the books. A total of 56,644 admissions were paid at the pool this season, which was cut short two weeks by the water shortage which delayed filling the pool.

Attendance this summer not only racked up a new mark, but the daily record also was broken on the third Sunday in June when 2,512 swimmers made use of the pool.

Don Kirchhofer, pool manager, said the new attendance marks probably were the result of a combination of reasons. It was hotter this summer than ever before, with a high of 114 degrees one day, and the community's rapid population growth also may figure in the new records," the manager said.

Kirchhofer, who is a teacher and coach at David Prince Junior High school, also managed the swimming pool last year.

The pool opened June 13 while in former years it has started operations June 1. Three days were lost after the recent windstorm when electricity to operate the pumps was cut off.
